Fess, Candidate for Senate, Praises Administration for Running U. S. on Business Basis

End of Pork Barrel Rule

Work of Drafting Platform Begun at Meeting of Party Leaders

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 22 (By The Associated Press).—With the slogan "Stand by the President and the National Administration" Ohio Republican leaders came here to-day and laid their plans for the state campaign which will terminate at the polls on November 7.

Congressman Simeon D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, the party nominee for United States Senator, sounded the keynote of the campaign in a speech before the Republican convention at Memorial Hall. Shortly before the convention convened the state central committee selected William H. Miller, of Columbus, as chairman of the campaign committee of nine members. Miller is a law partner of Carmi A. Thompson, the Republican nominee for Governor.

Platform Draft Begun

The convention, after listening to the keynote address and a speech by Senator Willis, recessed until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when a platform will be adopted. After adopting a declaration of principles, the convention will adjourn and the campaign will be on.

Work of drafting the platform was begun by Congressman Fess and Colonel Thompson. The Republican platform will contain strong endorsements of the national and state administrations.

In sounding the keynote campaign of the campaign—stand by the President and the national Administration—Congressman Fess outlined the accomplishments of the Republican Congress and the Republican national Administration under President Harding, himself an Ohioan. Referring to the national budget system inaugurated by the present Administration, he declared that "the day of the pork barrel legislation is forever gone."

More Than State Contest

Senator Willis told the convention that something more than "a mere state contest" was at stake in the impending campaign. "We must back up the President and the national Administration," he said, after declaring that the eyes of the nation are watching Ohio, and that the outcome of the state election in Ohio in November will have a decided effect on the next national campaign, two years hence.

Senator Willis urged that special attention be paid to the re-election of a solid Republican delegation to Congress from Ohio.

Both Senator Willis and Congressman Fess spoke chiefly of national issues and the accomplishments of the Harding Administration. Senator Willis, referring to the international policy of the Wilson Administration, declared emphatically that the Shantung treaty, to which the United States subscribed, "is the most disgraceful piece of diplomatic work in the history of the United States." He declared that the Democrats make problems and debts and that the Republicans settle them.

Pelican Counsel for Sea Gull Colony Dies

LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 22.—Pelican Mike, hero of many newspaper and other stories, is dead, and Long Beach mourns.

For months the long-faced pelican made his home on the sand near "the Pike," a beach amusement thoroughfare, and became a great favorite with children and grown-ups.

He was credited with acting as counselor for the local sea gull colony, and once with saving a gull with a broken wing from the attacks of a cat by the simple expedient of seizing the cat by the back of the neck, carrying it far out to sea and dropping it. Yesterday he disappeared. Human friends found him down the beach, one wing dragging, wounded by a hunter's shot. The wing could not be mended so the pelican was killed.

here, of Middletown; State Auditor, Morris Harrington, of Felton.

Changes in the rules of the state committees were given unanimous approval by the convention. These gave women equal representation on the state committee.

The platform adopted indorses the Harding administration, asks fair living wage for workers, gives women equal representation and rights in the legal organization of the party, asks for a state budget, goes on record against the $3 filing fee, urges state aid to Americanization, asks for continued support of the state for child welfare agencies and asks Federal support for the new harbor project in Wilmington.

Aquitania Sails With Large List Of Passengers

Nearly 1,000 Persons at the Pier to Say Farewell to Departing Friends; Lord Morris Returning Home

Bishop Baltazar Aboard

Karl Haniel, German Steel Magnate, Going Back on Resolute, Praises U. S.

The Cunard liner Aquitania left port yesterday for Cherbourg and Southampton with an unusually large passenger complement for this season. Near 1,000 persons were on the pier to say good-bye to departing friends and relatives.

Among the saloon passengers was Lord Morris, one of Scotland's big insurance heads, who has been visiting the American headquarters of his corporation in Philadelphia. He expressed much interest in America's prosperity and described us as exceedingly deft at cutting corners toward business prosperity.

He said that the United States was good to the working man, but that legislation for the protection of the rights of labor was a necessity.

Bishop Is Hungarian Liberal

Another traveler on the vessel was the Right Rev. Desider Baltazar, a Protestant Bishop of Hungary, who is returning to his home near Budapest. He is the leader of the liberal movement in Hungary and came to public notice as champion of certain classes of persecuted Jews in Hungary.

Enforcement Agents Charge Once Poor Boy Has Far Outdone Phil the Fiddler Simply by Pluck and Luck—and Selling Alcohol and Such Things

Oliver Optic and Horatio Alger, who wrote boys' stories for a past generation, were fond of detailing adventures of poor boys who became wealthy. Were either alive he might have found an unusual character in William H. Behn, sixteen, of 364 Chester Street, Brooklyn, arrested yesterday on a charge of being a bootlegger.

Behn was poor, but it is charged he has amassed a fortune in the whisky and alcohol business within less than a year. He is described as a modest youth, whose mother, the agents say, does on her boy's vision.

Michael S. Sassi, Edwin Potter and Carl Rosen, enforcement agents, arrested the boy yesterday with Aaron Spector, in whose drug store, at 158 Riverdale Avenue, Brooklyn, the agents charge they bought alcohol from young Behn.

Well, Well! Phone Number

Rosen heard of the boy and sought him out, obtaining a formal introduction from an alleged retailer. The boy presented Rosen with an engraved business card, bearing his name, address and telephone number. Later he called on Rosen, it is charged, and still later they met at his home. The agent quoted the boy as saying he represented several wholesalers in grain, alcohol, whisky and other liquors and could supply these goods in any quantity.

Haniel, head of the Good Hope steel industry, which was established in Dusseldorf, Germany, 152 years ago. He had been on a tour of the world, he said, and in his travels found no place that could compare with this country in prosperity.

Orient in Unsettled State

"With the exception of the United States," he said, "I found conditions

"I can get you all the liquor you will need," he is quoted as saying. Rosen then introduced agents Sassi and Potter as being "in the market," and the boy discussed goods and wares and prices in the company of the three, they charge. At the last interview the agents charge he promised twenty gallons of alcohol for immediate delivery and completed the sale yesterday at Spector's drug store at $7.75 a gallon.

Bright Boy, All in All

The youth also quoted five barrels of whisky at $29.25 a gallon, and said that if more were needed he could furnish good whisky in case lots up to 100 cases, the agents claim.

The officers charge the boy was a buying agent for bootleggers, who paid him 25 cents a gallon commission on alcohol and a much higher rate on whisky sales. The boy is described as pale, but intelligent and thoughtful and quite thorough in business methods.

The prisoners were arraigned together before United States Commissioner Hennessey in Brooklyn and were held in $1,000 bail each. The charge against the boy is giving information regarding whisky sales contrary to the provisions of the Volstead act, and the charge against Spector is selling alcohol for beverage purposes.

until I arrived here that I found any semblance of real prosperity. It was gratifying to me to find a tolerant, kindly spirit toward Germany in this country, and I can only hope that it will increase as time rolls on. I can assure you that the only hope for Germany lies with America."

Morris Hillquit, lawyer and Socialist leader, departed on the Resolute to attend the Socialist conference which is to be held at Frankfurt-on-Main in September. He said that naturally he favored Edward Cassidy, the Socialist candidate for Governor, but he expressed the opinion that of the candidates that could be put up by other parties Al Smith was the ablest.

Hospital Doctor Dismissed For Failure to Aid Woman

"The hospital regrets this affair deeply," said Major Louis Trimble, superintendent of the hospital. "It will never happen again."

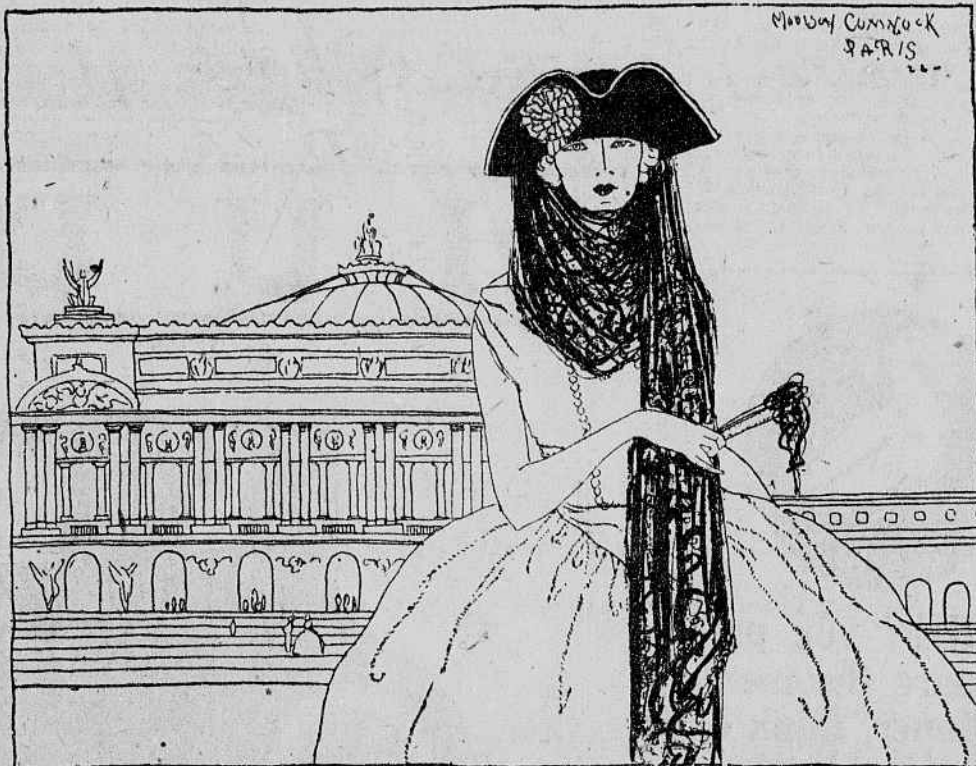

Prisoner Gets Chance to Pay Fine by Work Outside Jail

Police Recorder Cheveller, of West New York, N. J., yesterday introduced the novel scheme of allowing a prisoner lacking the full payment of his fine to work it out in employment outside the jail.

This favor was conferred on Walter Palzo, of West New York, who was arrested for burning rubbish in a vacant lot contrary to a city ordinance. When the recorder imposed a fine of $10, Palzo turned his pockets inside out and declared he could only muster $4. "I will give you until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to earn the other $6. If you haven't it by that time you can work it out in jail," declared the judge.

Paris Sets the Fashions for Our New Fall Hats

The Quaint Tricorn or the Broad Brim Is Demanded This Season

Here are a few important questions to ask a new hat before it can be recommended as a strictly smart Fall chapeau, according to the new Paris rules:

Is it a tricorn—or has it a broad brim?
Is it trimmed with the burnt peacock or ostrich? If not then with a lace or material drape?
Is it of black with silver; or is it of the following new shades?

Black with Silver Gray Silver Fox Gray
Toast Bark Brown
Ostend (New Sand)

These questions can all be answered in the affirmative by the new hats which the Millinery Department presents this week. For each hat is cleverly copied from a French model. And each model was carefully chosen after a close personal study of the hats worn at the recent fashion-setting social gatherings of Paris.

The illustration above shows the new tricorn shape as introduced to Paris at the Grand Prix ball by the beautiful Duchesse d'Uzes. The original Maison Lewis model of this tricorn was imported by the Millinery Department and is now on exhibition. Copies of this hat, in the original materials—black panne velvet with silver metallic ribbons and Venetian lace.
